

My 6th Grade Classroom Economy Odyssey By: Zack Clemons

O muse of the sixth grade please help me to tell this tale

Of Zack Nye the Great and his triumphant accumulation of treasure

While still young and somewhat in poverty, Zack was lured into the lair of the evil Aiden of Graybeaus.

Aiden had a dastardly plan to steal all of his money.

But Zack Nye soon saw through the plot and made a dashing escape sacrificing a small amount of his gold.

Later in his travels Zack Nye found Aiden once again starting a loan group.

He hoodwinked all who followed, claiming to charge 7% but actually 70%!

Zack called to the gods to grant that Aiden, raider of money, never see another client and should he see another make sure he loses all companions.

The gods listened and sent the Overlooker, Mr.Mac.

And he turned all companions and customers of the tyrant Aiden.

As the last auction of the year grew near, Zack Nye knew he needed to end all competition; he was bound to have all the items.

So Zack Nye brought inexpensive trinkets and sold them for high prices; the others spent all the money they had.

The Auction came and everyone else had run their bank accounts dry, leaving Zack the richest.

All the auction treasures were Zack's and the others lived in jealousy of his triumphs of classroom economy!
